

IT WOULD BE NICE.

It would be nice to have a cleavage

It would be nice to be able to bend forward without worrying Using your hand over your chest or a shirt tight around your neck
It would probably be nice to see a hairdresser and use colour
And wear a bikini in summer

It's sad that I will never fall in love again, through my own choice of not hurting another after being dumped by an ex at some point you truly love and would have done anything for but glad to be separated as sometimes brain really should control heart And love is not enough, especially if eventually one way

It's nice that that universe suddenly sends the best friends in the world your way

It's good and bad that you will never have to go through childbirth

It's good and bad that you are (by choice) --"off the market" for a future lover

It's good and bad to realise that the world is all about love

Express and joyfully love everyone more but know you will die without a soul mate

It's good and bad to get a pile of money but bad to feel frustrated that your amount will not save the world

It is nice to enjoy every family get together like it was your last

It is nice to have more time to think about where you will go and read about it
It is heartbreaking to know how much your friend, family and mother will hurt

It's nice to not give a shit about anything anymore and drive in your pj's and beanie Go out - no makeup, no eyebrows, thongs and house clothes because YOU are comfortable and love you

It is nice to get checked out with your wig on

It's nice to not bother about the consequence of not wearing sunscreen for the sun
It's nice having time alone

It's nice having things like this spring into your brain but not when you have nowhere to write or do so much the soul spurts get lost – arrgggh and are never found or repeated again
